On July 22, 1965, JOHN K. JESSUP, Chief Editorial Writer of "Life", advised that he has known the appointee for approximately twenty years. He first met the appointee when the appointee was employed at "Time". He was the appointee's supervisor when the appointee assisted in writing the editorial page of "Life".

He stated tht the appointee was employed by Newsweek Magazine between employments by the above captioned firm, but the appointee "got fed up with Newsweek because of some management rangle". Newsweek was sold and reorganized and the appointee left that organization.

He stated that the appointee is a very religious, high type, talented, honest, extremely moral and reliable individual. He is of good character and reputation, possesses reputable associates and is loyal to the United States. His political and religious philosophy are closely linked and the appointee is very anti-Communist.

He stated that the appointee was previously married and his first marriage was annulled. He has two children, a boy and a girl, names not recalled, by his first wife. These children live with the first wife but visit the appointee. The only association of the appointee and his first wife is through these children. The appointee and his first wife are not very friendly. The first wife was in a sanitarium for a year or two because of a "nervous breakdown", but her condition is now satisfactory.

The appointee is very happy in his present marriage and has three boys, [redacted] approximately ten years of age, [redacted] six or seven years of age, and [redacted] approximately three years of age.

He wrote a book entitled "The Operators", which was originally based on a series of articles the appointee wrote for "Life". This book, which was a commercial success, dealt with white collar crime.

He stated that the appointee has written articles for the government before and worked with the House Space Committee. He also wrote a book, not signed, concerning a Russian defector, PETER DERIABIN, which was originally printed in two or three installments of "Life".

The appointee worked for President JOHNSON during the Presidential campaign and in 1964 wrote speeches for the White House.

NY 161-1849

He stated that the appointee left Time - Life because of a better offer from "Show Business Illustrated". This lasted for over a year until the appointee became involved in a disagreement with the owner of that publication over publishing policy and promotional expense. One million dollars had been spent on promotion of "Show Business Illustrated" and the appointee desired to spend additional funds on that promotion.

JESSUP stated that the appointee then went with the HUNTINGTON HARTFORD publication Show Magazine, which bought out what was left of "Show Business Illustrated". The appointee stayed with this company for two or three years. The appointee then went with the field organization and is currently the New York correspondent for the "Chicago Daily News". The August 10, 1965 issued of "Look" will carry a byline article on Japan written by the appointee.

NY 161-1849

Show Magazine
640 5th Avenue
New York, New York

The following investigation was conducted by SA [REDACTED]:

b6
b7C

On July 21, 1965, GILMAN KRAFT, Publisher, Show Magazine, advised that the appointee had been publisher of this magazine from 1961 until the spring of 1964 at which time the appointee left the magazine when HUNTINGTON HARTFORD, the owner, had sold the magazine. KRAFT explained that he took over the magazine in June, 1964 and that there is no one presently employed with the magazine who was associated with the appointee. He added he had a casual acquaintance with the appointee and he regards the appointee as a very intellectual and capable individual and recommended him for a position of trust and loyalty with the United States Government.

He added that the persons who had executive positions with the magazine at the time the appointee was publisher were HUNTINGTON HARTFORD, owner of Hartford Publishers; [REDACTED] who is presently with Mc Call's Magazine and HENRY WOLF, Art Director, Mc Cann Ericson, Incorporated.

b7C

On July 22, 1965, HENRY WOLF, Art Director, Mc Cann Ericson, Incorporated, 485 Lexington Avenue, advised he had been Art Director for Show Magazine during the three year period in which the appointee had been publisher of the magazine. He said he has great respect for the appointee's intelligence, capabilities, common sense and he knows of nothing of a derogatory nature concerning the appointee. He said that when he first started the magazine he hired FRANK BRAY GIBNEY to publish and run the magazine for him. He said he had complete trust in GIBNEY and during the first two years of publication GIBNEY sent him various glowing reports concerning advertising contracts which had been secured with large companies and speculation concerning increased circulation projected for the following year or two. He said he found these reports to be false and mere speculation or "hope" on the part of GIBNEY and added that he, HARTFORD, was losing several million dollars a year publishing the magazine.

HARTFORD advised that GIBNEY took several trips around the world supposedly in the interest of the magazine and yet he knew that such expenses were hurting the already failing magazine. He said GIBNEY's character, reputation and moral conduct were above reproach, but he stated that he felt that GIBNEY had been dishonest and unloyal to him because he hid the true status of the magazine in glowing reports and he also felt that GIBNEY was furthering his own interest rather than those of the magazine when he took trips to Japan, a country in which he had a great interest.

HARTFORD concluded that based on the above he could not recommend the appointee for a position with the United States Government because he felt that the appointee might be unloyal to the government by furthering his own interests rather than those of the United States Government.

Synopsis: Employment with "Show Business Illustrated", Chicago, verified. Two former acquaintances would not recommend. Neighborhood not confirmed. No credit or arrest record, Chicago, for appointee or his wife.

- RUC -

CG 161-1199

DETAILS:

Employment

"Show Business Illustrated"
232 East Ohio Street
Chicago, Illinois

[redacted] Personnel Department, "Playboy" magazine, 232 East Ohio Street, advised SA [redacted] from records on July 23, 1965, that the appointee had worked for "Show Business Illustrated" during the period April 17, 1961, to November 13, 1961. He was Editorial Director and Assistant Publisher.

b6
b7C

She advised "Show Business Illustrated" was discontinued in 1962.

The appointee voluntarily resigned his position and returned to New York City. While residing in the Chicago area he lived at 237 East Delaware Street, Chicago.

[redacted] advised she was not personally acquainted with the appointee but has never heard anything of an unfavorable nature concerning him.

b6
b7C

[redacted] "Playboy" magazine, 232 East Ohio Street, Chicago, advised SA [redacted] on July 23, 1965, that "Show Business Illustrated" was formerly published by "Playboy" magazine and was discontinued in 1962.

b6
b7C

The appointee was employed by this company for several months in 1961, during which time he resided in Chicago.

[redacted] advised that he did not have a very pleasant association with the appointee due to differences of administrative decisions concerning the publishing of

b6
b7C

CG 161-1199

"Show Business Illustrated". He said after GIBNEY voluntarily resigned from this company he returned to New York City.'

[] stated he would not recommend GIBNEY for a position of trust because of the following:

b6
b7C

While in their employ, GIBNEY was personally loaned $7,700 by "Playboy" magazine which had never been repaid although efforts are currently being made to collect this money through the courts in New York City.

GIBNEY made employment contracts without their knowledge.

GIBNEY left this organization with the impression that he was "all for GIBNEY" and had no loyalty to his employer.

[] stated that although he did not socialize with GIBNEY, that he felt that GIBNEY was rather self-centered and extremely inflexible.

b6
b7C

[] said he had no reason to question the appointee's loyalty to the United States Government.

Mr. AUGUST SPECTORSKY, Editor, "Playboy" magazine, 232 East Ohio Street, advised on July 26, 1965, that he formerly met the appointee in New York City prior to 1961. To the best of his memory, the appointee at that time was working for "Life" magazine and had recently written a book. He stated at that time the appointee impressed him and that he hired him to work for "Show Business Illustrated", a magazine published by "Playboy" magazine's publishing company.

Sometime in the early part of 1961, the appointee came to Chicago to work and was given the position of Editorial Director and Assistant Publisher. In this position he had complete autonomy and a great deal of latitude in the publishing of this magazine.

The appointee desired to make this magazine an intellectual one, in that it was to stress the finer arts, such as opera, legitimate stage, and intellectual literature. SPECTORSKY stated it was his and [redacted] [redacted] the Hefner Publishing Company, which publishes "Playboy" magazine) opinion that "Show Business Illustrated" should contain information concerning all aspects of show business, night club life, circus events, etc.

b6
b7C

SPECTORSKY advised that the appointee maintained his attitude towards the publishing of this magazine and it was inevitable that either he would have to change his viewpoint or the magazine be completely changed. The result was that the appointee and [redacted] reached an agreement whereby the appointee voluntarily resigned his position with "Show Business Illustrated", and returned to New York City. He stated that as far as he is personally concerned he would not ask the appointee to do anything for him or this company as he personally considers the appointee to be very self-centered, egotistical and extremely rigid in his viewpoints and highly opinionated.

b6
b7C

SPECTORSKY advised that he has no reason to question the appointee's moral character or his loyalty to the United States Government.

Neighborhood

237 East Delaware Street
Chicago, Illinois

[redacted]
[redacted] Chicago, advised on July 26, 1965, that he maintains no records concerning past inhabitants of this building. He said everyone in this apartment building owns their own apartment although it would be possible for an individual to temporarily room with an occupant.

b6
b7C

CG 161-1199

He said the name of the appointee does not sound familiar to him; however, if there had been any derogatory or unfavorable information concerning this person, he would surely have heard of it.

He said he could not suggest anyone in this apartment building who might be acquainted with the appointee.

Credit and Arrest

[redacted] Chicago Credit Bureau, Inc., Chicago, advised IC [redacted] on July 26, 1965, credit files disclose no information regarding the appointee and his wife.

b6
b7C

A check of the arrest files of the Bureau of Records and Communications, Chicago Police Department, on July 27, 1965, by IC [redacted] revealed no information for the appointee or his wife.

Records of the Credit Bureau of Greater New York, New York, New York, disclose a judgment was filed against Mr. Gibney on October 22, 1962, in the amount of $737.50 by Joan A. Crawford. This judgment was satisfied in February, 1963.

He said Mr. Gibney broke the lease and Mrs. Crawford made a verbal agreement with Mr. Gibney whereby she would rent the apartment as soon as possible thereby saving Mr. Gibney money. He stated Mr. Gibney subsequently felt Mrs. Crawford did not satisfy the verbal agreement, and she felt that she had.

He stated as a result Mrs. Crawford filed a judgment against Mr. Gibney for $737.50 because of their disagreement as to the terms of the verbal contract. He said this judgment was satisfied in February, 1963.
